Quick Sheets about Language Requirements and Degree Recognition

Abstract:

In the following chapter, basic information about language requirements and degree recognition in different countries is provided. There are seven quick sheets available for Flanders (Belgium), Germany, Greece, Iceland, Poland, Slovenia and Turkey. Each quick sheet includes background information on the national degree recognition agency, language requirements to enter the teaching profession, information about the country specific educational system and other relevant information or websites.

All quick sheets are available in English and the language of the specific country.

All information is time-bound and requires regular updating.
